I started to collaborate as a freelance designer with dakahder in 2020. Until today we work with several projects in the field of social justice and equality, to empowering young women around Turkey, from west to north.

It made me meet with the idea of feminism and the movement. Those works gave us the chance to get to know the concepts of sexual violence and the methods of struggle closely. Dakahder's work has grown over the years, and we have formed a team of volunteers to meet their digital, design and communication needs. It has become a team that transfers its knowledge and skills to each other and thus ensures sustainability.

TERMS OF SEXUAL VIOLENCE

The only association in Turkey working specifically on combating sexual violence, the Association for Combating Sexual Violence (CSMD), gathered the concepts of sexual violence in a dictionary. It was prepared by making use of the sexual violence concept discussions organized within the scope of the project.

Women's News Network Project

w/ Rosa Luxemburg Stiftung

The project aims to enable women in the region to have their own news networks within the perspective of gender equality for the change and transformation of the rights violations that women and LGBTI+'s face in the media and news and the masculine language used.

It aims to create a space where women can form their demands and speak their words against being manipulated in the media, trivializing their words and ignoring their problems, and creating a network that can produce news with a gender equality perspective that can create an alternative form of information production and transmission.

SUPPORT SYSTEM MAP

During the project we research and collect institutions and individuals contact informations, when a violence victim can urgently call and ask for support from the nearest localton.

We build an online map with those informations, created a support system.

We shared the contact information of institutions and individuals, through a web map, where women who are faced with sexual assault and violence can access support.

We have tried to make other institutional information visible so that women living in the region can be included in the collaborations, not only because of a victimization they have experienced, but also where they will feel empowered.
